

Identity and inequity: building access to, and participation in, postgraduate research through a multi-faceted lens

Louise Banahene

Director of Educational Engagement and Student Success

University of Leeds

Reflect on the intersections of your own identity – the strengths that they bring but also maybe the challenges or barriers

Postgraduate admissions data observatory

- Collecting PGT and PGR admissions data on criteria including gender, ethnicity, disability, care experience, socio-economic status and more
- Analysing and disaggregating data at an institutional and sector level
- Opportunities to review and understand trends in applications, offer making and acceptances at an intersectional level
- Collaboration to explore and identify strategies to understand intersections of identity and address gaps

- What inspires you about the potential for understanding intersections of identity to inform strategies resonate?
- What are the implications for equity in relation to this shift towards a data observatory model?

Louise Banahene

University of Leeds

l.banahene@adm.leeds.ac.uk

2nd UKCGE Conference on Equity, Diversity and Inclusion in Postgraduate Research

Race and Ethnicity in PGR

Leonardo Royal Waterfront Hotel, Brighton
14th & 15th November 2024

#ukcgeEDI